

IMPORTANT AUSTRALIAN STUDY

Dear Household,

I am writing to invite your household to take part in the Living in Australia study. This study is the largest longitudinal study of its kind in Australia, with the data used to inform important policy decisions made at all levels of government. Since 2001, approximately 8,000 households have participated in this study. For the first time we are extending the invitation to an additional 2,000 households to ensure the data remains statistically representative of all Australians.

This study is also known as the Household, Income and Labour Dynamics in Australia (HILDA) study, and is commonly referred to in the media that way. It is managed by the Melbourne Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research and funded by the Australian Government.

Some things you should know about this study...

- your information remains completely confidential and protected by law.
 - as a thank you, each person who completes an interview receives a $30 cash gift.
- When everyone in the household has taken part, your household will receive a bonus $30.

What do you need to do?

No action is necessary at this point. A Living in Australia interviewer from Roy Morgan Research will visit you shortly to answer any questions you may have and interview your household. The attached brochure includes more detail on the study; feel free to read it at your leisure.

Need more information?

You can access more information about the study at www.livinginaustralia.org. Alternatively; you can call or write to us if you have further questions about the study. Please call Roy Morgan Research on 1800 656 670 or write to HILDA@roymorgan.com

Your views are important and we hope that you enjoy being part of a study that has helped shape our nation.

Yours sincerely

Mark Wooden
